

Drug Shortage Statement

Hikma is committed to helping solve drug shortages, which unfortunately are occurring with increasing frequency across the global markets we serve. We understand the negative impact of shortages on patients and caregivers and will use our manufacturing and distribution resources whenever possible to help solve shortage situations.

This includes making ongoing investments in our manufacturing facilities, expanding production lines, increasing our manufacturing capacity, adding workforce when needed, and changing manufacturing schedules to prioritize production of medicines facing shortage. As part of our work to address shortages, we collaborate closely with the US Food and Drug Administration, Health Canada, European Health Authorities, and participants in healthcare systems across the MENA markets we serve to identify, prevent and/or alleviate shortages of essential medicines.
